2015 Utah Preservation Conference | Preservation in Motion March 12-13, 2015

The ninth annual Utah Preservation Conference, Preservation in Motion, will provide you with the tools and inspiration you need to take action. Whether it's rehabbing your own property or passing a new ordinance, the Utah Preservation Conference is your local resource for training, education, and networking with professionals in historic preservation from across the state. As time moves forward, historic architecture evolves with our communities. Attend the conference to get the latest on the historic preservation movement in Utah and how to build community through the evolving mix of historic, mid-century, and contemporary architecture that help our historic places thrive and create economic impact.

Join us at the 2015 Utah Preservation Conference to network with preservationists from around the state.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Alan Hess

Modernism's Back: The Past and Future of Mid-century Modern Architecture

11:00 a.m. – 12:15 p.m.

Officer's Club, Fort Douglas, University of Utah, SLC

Architect and historian Alan Hess is the architecture critic of the San Jose Mercury News and a contributor to the Architect's Newspaper. He has written nineteen books on Modern architecture and urbanism in the mid-twentieth century. He has written monographs on architects Oscar Niemeyer, Frank Lloyd Wright, and John Lautner, as well as architectural histories of Las Vegas and Palm Springs. Hess' other books include Googie: Ultramodern Roadside Architecture, Forgotten Modern, and The Ranch House. He is currently researching the architecture of Irvine, California, one of the United States' largest master-planned communities of the 1960s and 1970s.

Hess has been active in the preservation of post-World War II architecture, qualifying several Mid-century Modern buildings for the National Register of Historic Places. Join us for his Keynote Address as he talks about the Mid-century Modern movement in Utah and how it relates to the attitudes about and actions toward saving modern architecture nationwide.

WALKING TOUR: Taking You to School: Mid-Mod at the U of U

2:30 – 4:00 p.m.

Meet in the Officer's Club Lobby, Fort Douglas, U of U, SLC

Utah Heritage Foundation is conducting research in partnership with Utah Division of State History and University of Utah to survey the University of Utah Campus and over forty structures that were built after 1949. This important project will help all of us understand the story of why, and how these buildings were built to determine their historic and architectural significance. Be among the first to hear the findings from this survey as we take you on a tour of the University campus highlighting the Mid-century Modern structures that make this campus unique.

Tickets are $20 per person in advance / $25 day-of tour.

SATURDAY, APRIL 25
